AYER'S
CHERRY
FOR THE RAPID CURE OF
Colds, Coughs, and Hoarseness.

BRIMFIELD MASS 20th Dec 1855
DR. J. C. AYER I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Coughs, Hoarseness, Influenza, and the concomitant symptoms of a Cold is your CHERRY PECTORAL. Its constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints EBEN KNIGHT M D

A. B. MORTLEY, Esq of UTICA N Y writes "I have used your PECTORAL myself and in my family ever since you invented it and believe it the best medicine for its purpose ever put out. With a bad cold I should sooner pay twenty-five dollars for a bottle than do without it, or take any other remedy"

Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza.

SPRINGFIELD MISS., Feb 7 1856.
BROTHER AYER I will cheerfully certify your PECTORAL is the best remedy we possess for the cure of Whooping Cough, Croup and the chest diseases of children We of your fraternity in the South appreciate your skill and commend your medicine to our people.
HIRAM CONKLIN M D

AMOS LEE Esq MONTEREY IA. writes 3d Jan 1856 "I had a tedious Influenza, which confined me in doors six weeks; took many medicines without relief finally tried your PECTORAL by the advice of our clergyman The first dose relieved the soreness in my throat and lungs; less than one half the bottle made me completely well Your medicines are the cheapest as well as the best we can buy and we esteem you Doctor and your remedies, as the poor man's friend"

Asthma or Phthisic, and Bronchitis.

WEST MANCHESTER, PA, Feb 4, 1856.
SIR Your CHERRY PECTORAL is performing marvellous cures in this section. It has relieved several from alarming symptoms of consumption and is now curing a man who has labored under an affection of the lungs for the last forty years.
HENRY L. PARKS, Merchant

A. A. RAMSEY M D ALBION MONROE Co I[illegible] writes Sept 6, 1855 "During my practice of many years I have found nothing equal to your CHERRY PECTORAL for giving ease and relief to consumptive patients, or curing such as are curable"

We might add volumes of evidence but the most convincing proof of the virtues of this remedy is found in its effects upon trial.

Consumption.

Probably no one remedy has ever been known which cured so many and such dangerous cases as this. Some no human aid can reach but even to those the CHERRY PECTORAL affords relief and comfort.

ASTOR HOUSE NEW YORK CITY March 5 1856
DOCTOR AYER, LOWELL I feel it a duty and a pleasure to inform you what your CHERRY PECTORAL has done for my wife She had been five months laboring under the dangerous symptoms of Consumption from which no aid we could procure gave her much relief. She was steadily failing until Dr [illegible] of this city, where we have come for advice recommended a trial of your medicine We bless his kindness, as we do your skill, for she has recovered from that day She is not yet as strong as she used to be, but is free from her cough and calls herself well.
Yours, with gratitude and regard
ORLANDO SHELBY, of SHELBYVILLE

Consumptives do not despair till you have tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It is made by one of the best medical chemists in the world, and its cures all round us bespeak the high merits of its virtues. — Philadelphia Ledger

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

THE sciences of Chemistry and Medicine have been taxed their utmost to produce this best, most perfect purgative which is known to man Innumerable proofs are shown that these PILLS have virtues which surpass in excellence the ordinary medicines and that they win unprecedentedly upon the esteem of all men. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood, and expel disease They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper stimulate sluggish or disordered organs into their natural action and impart healthy tone with strength to the whole system Not only do they cure the every day complaints of every body but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffled the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects they are at the same time, in diminished doses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being sugar-coated they are pleasant to take, and being purely vegetable are free from any risk of harm. Cures have been made which surpass belief were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth Many eminent clergymen and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliability of my remedies, while others have sent me the assurance of their conviction that my Preparations contribute immensely to the relief of my afflicted suffering fellow-men.

The Agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis my American Almanac containing directions for the use and certificates of their cures of the following complaints: —

Costiveness, Bilious Complaints Rheumatism Dropsy Heartburn Headache arising from a foul Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Morbid Inaction of the Bowels and Pain arising therefrom, Flatulency Loss of Appetite, all Ulcerous and Cutaneous Diseases which require an evacuant Medicine Scrofula or King's Evil. They also, by purifying the blood and stimulating the system, cure many complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach, such as Deafness, Partial Blindness Neuralgia and Nervous Irritability Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys, Gout and other kindred complaints arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with some other pill they make more profit on. Ask for AYER'S PILLS, and take nothing else. No other they can give you compares with this in its intrinsic value or curative powers. The sick want the best aid there is for them, and they should have it.

SATURDAY MORNING, OCT 31, 1863

Gold Dust.—The Wilson G. Hunt brought down last night the largest amount of treasure ever received by any one boat. The shipment to the Express companies was comparatively small, Wells Fargo & Co receiving only 100 pounds, or about $20,000, and Tracy & King between 1,400 and 1,500 ounces, or about $17,500 from Bannock. In addition to these sums through the publicly accredited channels, quite a number of private individuals, in one instance three in company, were seen almost staggering beneath the weight of gold dust they were packing through Front street from the steamer. We have the assurance of many reliable business men, to us personally known, who came down on the boat, that there was on board at least sixteen hundred pounds of gold. This is a large sum, but it is not improbable, when we consider that the mining season is just closed and in the adjustment of shippers' accounts, a large return of gold dust is required to pay for the thousands of tons of goods which have freighted our up-river boats during the past year of uninterrupted navigation. Although a very considerable amount will stop in the hands of Portland wholesale merchants, primarily its destination is inevitably southward and eastward, tracing up the main arteries and revivifying trade. It will come back to us, with the millions that have preceded it, in the form of fresh stocks for consumption, renewed confidence in our resources, and if required, extended credit. Adding to the receipts of last night the amounts previously reported by Express alone this week, and omitting all speculation as to amounts in possession of apparently well to do miners, we have received since Monday, the sum of $355,200.

From our Dalles exchanges of yesterday morning, we learn that the steamer Nez Perce Chief arrived at that place from above on Thursday night, bringing "the richest freight that any steamer on the Columbia river ever bore." The Journal authoritatively sums up: "Thus we have a total of 1950 lbs, ($467,400) in the hands of fifteen 'honest miners.'" The Mountaineer, after saying that "in one of the state rooms there was known to be eight hundred pounds, and two men had three hundred pounds between them," concludes the article thus: "We think it within bounds to say that full two thousand pounds of dust has been received at the Dalles within the last 24 hours." According to these statements it is evident that some of the gold proprietors still remain at the Dalles.

Copperhead Plagiarism.—There are now no conceivable extremes to which the contemptible copperhead organs are incapable of resorting in furtherance of their rebellion patronizing schemes. Perversions of palpable fact are of so common occurrence as to merit notice only when of such nature as will inflict personal injury unless contradicted. We presented a parallel yesterday morning from the Walla Walla Statesman. The same delectable sheet, not content with giving copperhead reputations to successful Union men, strives to rob one of our Northern poets of his credit as the author of a beautiful piece entitled the "Red River Voyageur," by John G. Whittier, and reproduces it under the title of "Traveler, written for the Statesman, by P. E. T.," after marring its harmony by changing a single word. The poem as written by Whittier, appeared in the WEEKLY OREGONIAN, April 27, 1861. If that paper is so infernally ignorant as to suppose one of its contributors capable of inditing such a poem, its copperheadism is no longer a matter of surprise.

Up-Country Items.—The Boise News of the 5th inst speaks of several quartz leads in South Boise as averaging about $347 to the ton. A party of miners on North Boise are packing dirt half a mile to water and make $50 per day to the hand. Thos Fitzhugh, a bar-tender, shot James Pinney, of the firm of Pinney & Stearns, Main street, Bannock City. Fitzhugh gave bail, and the wounded man will recover. A man named Jones, on North Fork of Elk Creek, had his thigh broken, teeth knocked out and wrist dislocated, by the caving of a bank. The first number of an unconditionally loyal paper, called the Idaho Union, was to issue on Thursday, 8th inst., John Carlton, editor, and Smith & Wasson publishers. Certificates of assay of South Boise rock show the yield of Golden Eagle, gold, $2,250 per ton, croppings, silver $27—total $2,277. Idaho, gold $1,744 30, 30 feet below surface, silver, $94 86—total per ton, $1,839 16. Ophir gold, $1,844 96, 25 feet, silver, $34 72—total $1,879 68 per ton.

Lewiston.—At a Union mass meeting held on the 20th, James A Glascock was nominated for Councilman and Willard Learned for Representative to the Idaho Legislature. The Golden Age says they will be elected, and in another article boasts of having in that place "'lots' of rose buds wrapped in crinoline." Hurly & Co assayed $78,000 within the last month at Lewiston.

New Passenger Cars.—We understand that four commodious passenger cars for the Oregon Steam Navigation Company, have recently been completed at the Lower Cascades at a cost of about $3,000 each. They are intended to run on the Portage railroad.

Battle of Chickamauga.—The Indianapolis Journal of September 28th, has a long article descriptive of the battle of Chickamauga.

Among the incidents of the battle of Saturday Colonel Wilder described the frightful slaughter of Longstreet's men at the time they were driven back by our left wing. This celebrated corps, as desperate soldiers as ever lived, attacking two divisions, Van Cleve's and Davis's, to the right and a little in front of Wilder, separated them and pushed on through the open space, yelping—the rebel shout is a yelp, instead of a civilized hurrah—and confident of victory. A portion of them had to cross a small field, behind which, in the bordering woods, Wilder lay, and through which ran a ditch five or six feet deep to carry off the water of an adjacent stream or swamp. As the rebels entered this field in heavy masses fully exposed, the mounted infantry with their seven shooting rifles kept up a continuous blast of fire upon them, while Lilly with his Indiana battery, hurled through them double shotted canister from his 10 pounder rifles at less than 300 yards. The effect was awful. Every shot seemed to tell. The head of the column, as it was pushed on by those behind, appeared to melt away or sink into the earth, for though continually moving it got no nearer.

It broke at last and fell back in great disorder. It was rallied and came on again, and with desperate resolution pushed through the solid fire to the ditch. Here all who could get in took shelter. Instantly Lilly whirled two of his guns and poured right down the whole length of the ditch his horrible double cannister. Hardly a man got out of it alive. At this point, said Wilder, who has been seasoned to slaughter by being two hundred times under fire, "it actually seemed a pity to kill men so. They fell in heaps, and I had it in my heart to order the firing to cease to end the awful sight." But the merciless seven shooters and cannister would not stop, and again the boasted flower of Lee's army was crushed into a disorderly mob and driven off. When the firing ceased one could have walked for 200 yards down that ditch on dead rebels without touching the ground. Of course Mr Wilder does not claim that his brigade defeated Longstreet. His statement refers only to that portion of the corps which entered the field in his front. He thinks that not less that two thousand rebels were killed and wounded in this field. It was probably the most disastrous fire of the two days' fight on either side.

A Wail from Secessia.—Our churches are opened, as usual, and as well filled as heretofore, but notwithstanding, religion (if ever there was any) has entirely disappeared. The most prominent members of the different churches are the most unblushing extortioners and grinders of the poor, and even ministers who have any chance have all rushed into making money by extortion and speculation. I look upon our country as completely ruined whatever way this struggle may end, or when. As soon as we got clear of trading with the Northern people, our own people set to work to eat one another up.—The grocers raised every luxury of life from six to eight hundred per cent over the same articles we got from the North. I have not seen a dollar's worth of specie in circulation for nearly two years. Our country farmers who used to wear cloth now wear very coarse cotton and wool mixed—few would but they themselves; they now sell it to the rich and poor at a higher price than French or English broadcloth used to sell for here. Those among us who desire to keep our boots blackened have to pay one dollar for a small box of blacking that, I suppose, you can buy for one penny. We used to buy flour at £1 sterling ($5) a barrel; now it is £10 sterling. Shoes that were one to three dollars, are now to twenty and thirty dollars. You can see what we have to contend with.

It is considered generally we have a weaker set of men in our Government heads and Congress than ever was in the old Government or in the old Congress, and certainly ours are no less corrupt. This has been the most cruel and vindictive war, perhaps, ever waged, and our Southern people have taken more advantage of the necessities of their own countrymen than I could believe of such a people boasting of their patriotism and charity. The necessaries of life both in provisions and clothing, are terribly dear, and if we are ever conquered it will be by our producers and speculators. How would you like to pay for everything you use 500 or 1,000 per cent over the prices you had to pay before the war? Our producers and speculators have done this for us.

Captains Sawyer and Flynn.—A young officer recently released from the Libby Prison in Richmond furnishes the following information in relation to Captains Sawyer and Flynn, who were condemned to death by Jeff Davis.

Captains Sawyer and Flynn, it will be remembered, have been condemned to death in retaliation for the execution by Gen Burnside of two rebel officers caught recruiting within his lines. The Richmond mob demanded the death of these brave and patriotic men, but the authorities were deterred by the threatened fate of Winder and Lee, held by us at Fortress Monroe. Captains Sawyer and Flynn are confined in a sort of cage or bin partitioned off from the cellar of the building. Measured by the eye it appeared not larger than six feet by eight. The only light and air are admitted through a hole near the ceiling about a foot square, through which also the food is passed down twice a day. This den is damp, dark, and most shockingly filthy, and the unfortunate victims of rebel hatred are enduring within it a living death from day to day. The plan seems to be, since their cowardly tormentors dare not shoot or hang them, to torture their lives away by this long agony, and then report them as having died of sickness.

Reprisals.—General Hurlburt in command at Memphis, has issued an order directing commanders whose jurisdiction extends over any part of Tennessee and Kentucky within our lines, to cause reprisals to be made for all violence done to Union men—complainant to establish his loyalty, his loss, and as near as possible the persons by whom the wrong has been committed. Upon satisfactory proof officers will levy an assessment upon the most wealthy and notorious sympathizers with the rebellion, adding fifty per cent to the amount of damage proved, and collect the same at the shortest notice by military penalties, paying the amount of damage to claimant, holding the surplus for Union refugees.

What is more annoying than to be deceived by one in whom you place implicit confidence? Who has not been taken in by the scandalous tricks of unscrupulous dealers in slop clothing? If you would avoid disappointment and get your money's worth, trade with Heuston, Hastings & Co, the great Clothing firm of Lick House, Montgomery street, San Francisco. They will furnish you with well fitting and well made garments, and they deal only in goods of first rate quality.

Eastern News

Army of the Potomac, Oct 22.—There is little of interest to report to day, but it is not contraband to say that an important movement is contemplated which will give joy to the heart of every true Union man; the nature of the movement, not the heart, cannot be communicated to the people, who may prepare themselves for an agreeable surprise.

Washington, Oct 22.—We have learned from a perfectly trustworthy source that Admiral Dahlgren was relieved from the command of the iron-clad fleet at Charleston a few days since. Captain Turner of the Iron Sides has been appointed to the position. It is believed that official notice of the change went to Charleston by the last steamer.

The facts in regard to the changes in the West are as follows: Gen Rosecrans is relieved and Gen Thomas assumes command of the Army of the Cumberland. The Departments of the Ohio (Burnside's), of the Cumberland (Thomas), of the Tennessee, (Hurlburt's), and of Vicksburg, (McPherson's) are consolidated into the Grand Military Division of the Mississippi, under command of Gen Grant. Gens Hooker and Sherman (the latter is now at Iuka, Mississippi) will command corps in the field. Gen Grant's headquarters will be in the field.—He leaves to-morrow for the front. McPherson's Department will extend from the Department of the Gulf to Napoleon, Ark.

New York, Oct 23.—We understand that orders have been issued to push Lee to the wall and force him to battle, but whether under present circumstances a battle will be obtained or risked is a matter of conjecture. If the rebel commander, as now seems probable, gets fairly out of fighting distance, you may expect to hear that the fate of Rosecrans has been visited upon Gen Meade, who has certainly be a too cautious in pursuing.

Chattanooga, Oct. 21st.—Gen Rosecrans received orders relieving him from command on Monday evening the 19th instant. Yesterday he left for Cincinnati. He is accompanied by only two personal Aids. General Thomas has assumed command.

A late copy of the Chattanooga Rebel says Bragg will undoubtedly be relieved for his failure to defeat Rosecrans in the late battle and it is yet undecided whether Johnston, Longstreet or Lee will be his successor.

The late rains have swollen the Tennessee river very much, and steamers could easily reach Chattanooga did the enemy permit.

St Louis, Oct 22.—The President's reply to the Missouri delegation, declining to remove Gen Schofield, says: "From time to time I have done and said what I supposed proper, and to say it obliges nobody. Radicals and conservatives agree with me in some things and disagree in others. I could wish both to agree with me in all things and then we would be too strong for any foe. They have chosen to do otherwise and I don't question their right. I too shall do what seems to be my duty. I hold whoever commands in Missouri or elsewhere responsible to me and not to either radicals or conservatives. It is my duty to hear all, but, at last, I must, within my sphere, judge what to do."

Washington, Oct 22.—Accounts from the Army of the Potomac to-night say that Gen Lee's army, with the exception of Stuart's cavalry, crossed the Rappahannock on Monday (19th), at Rappahannock Station. Gen Stuart fell back to the river on Tuesday 20th, not stopping in Warrenton, through which he passed, although he admitted that his men had not tasted a meal for 24 hours. Officers of Lee's army stated that the rapid retreat was caused by the destruction of their provisions. It is believed that there is no considerable force of rebels now north of the Rapidan, unless it is a portion of Stuart's cavalry.

It was said by rebel officers that Lee, having driven Meade toward Washington, and destroyed a portion of the Orange and Alexandria Railroad, Hill's and Ewell's corps would now be immediately dispatched to the assistance of Bragg. This report is strengthened by a previous rumor that one of these corps was about to leave Virginia.

New York, Oct 23.—The Herald has the following, dated "In the Field, Oct 22:" As soon as we found Lee had retreated, our troops took the offensive, pressing the enemy closely. At Auburn we learned that the rebel cavalry had but a few hours start, and Kilpatrick was pressing their rear. The general impression is that Lee is falling back on the defenses of Richmond in order to send all his available force to Tennessee.

It is reported that the military authorities are taking measures to prevent any further executions of our prisoners, by inaugurating retaliatory measures. Spencer Kellogg, who was hung at Richmond recently, was captured while performing legitimate duties as an officer. It is believed that rebel officers will be selected for execution as soon as arrangements can be made.

Is the "Alabama" a Privateer?—The Tribunal of Commerce of Bordeaux, says the LeNord, has given judgment in a case in which the point in dispute was the character of the Confederate cruisers. The question arose between the merchants whose goods, embarked on board American vessels, have been seized and burnt at sea by the Alabama, and the assurance companies who had guaranteed the cargo against capture or damage from pirates. The question was a simple demand of indemnity on the part of the merchants but in reality the debate involved the solution of the international question what view is to be taken of the acts of the Alabama. If a pirate the assurance companies are responsible, but there is of course no responsibility as a privateer. The tribunal relies upon the declaration of the French government of June 11, 1861, which, proclaiming an absolute neutrality in the American war, acknowledged the rights of belligerents to the Southern as well as the Northern States. It holds that the Alabama probably furnished with letters of marque, although no positive proof could be given in the case, has never attacked any but vessels of the enemy, respecting neutrals, and lays down that in such conduct especially lies what constitute the difference between a regular privateer and a pirate. It admits that if the Congress of Paris of the 30th of March 1856 has abolished privateering and letters of marque its declarations are not applicable to the states of the American Union which did not agree to the convention, and desired to preserve the advantage of the old tradition of maritime war. It concludes, finally, by stating that the Alabama, strictly speaking, has not exceeded her belligerent rights nor incurred the reproach of piracy. The LeNord, in reporting this judgment, remarks on the total omission from it of any reference to the most delicate side of the international question—the circumstance that the Alabama and Florida have not submitted their captures to the decisions of a prize court according to the received inviolable rule, but have constituted themselves judges, and appropriated, of their own authority, goods seized on board Northern merchantmen.

Official Detention of the Confederate Iron-Clads in British Waters.—The London Morning Herald of the 12th September says:

Earl Russell on Wednesday despatched, by written missive, a positive order to Messrs. Laird to prevent these vessels leaving their yards without an ample explanation of their destination, and a substantial reference to the owner or owners for whom they are constructed. It is now affirmed, moreover, that the French ambassador has been appealed to as to the possibility or non possibility of a French subject having ordered vessels of this stamp of an English ship builder. There is declared to have come a proper official reply from his Excellency that no French subject has any legal right to possess or purchase vessels of war either for himself or on behalf of others. Earl Russell, it is said, argues to himself that these vessels could only be vessels for the warlike purposes of a state or an individual. His lordship finds that Messrs. Laird are bound to declare—and sustain on unimpeachable testimony such declaration—the Government for whom the steam rams have been built. The Secretary for Foreign Affairs is also of opinion that if it is pleaded that these vessels are for an individual owner, native or foreign, that individual could only be a privateer or a pirate. And it is on these grounds that the Government has made up its mind. At any rate the English Government is now firmly resolved to try the question in a court of law and if amerced for damages, to make an appeal for support to the House of Commons.

How Franklin Pierce is Regarded in Massachusetts.—Ex President Pierce lately attended church at Andover, Mass. There were several other citizens of New Hampshire there who observed him, and who relate the following incident:

An acquaintance of Pierce addressed a gentleman, while outside the church, and asked to introduce the ex President, and without waiting for an answer immediately repeated the names of both. Pierce immediately extended his hand, but the gentleman coldly answered—"Excuse me, I never shake hands with a traitor."

Lost and Found.—Yesterday morning a boy of three summers, the son of Mrs [illegible], formerly from Walla Walla, now stopping at the Temperance House, wandered away on a voyage of discovery through several streets of the city. He was soon missed, and the affrighted mother met with ready assistance in the prosecution of her search for the darling. After several hours he was found on one of the back streets endeavoring to circumnavigate a mud hole. The cry of "child lost," whether in the crowded thoroughfare or mountain fastness, touches a chord of tender sympathy which is never appealed to in vain.

False Alarm.—At about quarter past [illegible] o'clock last night, the denizens of [illegible] street were aroused by some one rushing frantically along shouting at the highest pitch of his voice, "murder! murder!!" He found protection from the guardians of the night, and we understand he was urged to his violation of a city ordinance by an overcharge of "Greek fire."

The Drama.—To night will be presented "Pauline," and "Taming the Shrew."

From Boise.—The following items are condensed from the Boise News of Oct. 13th:

Specimens of the quartz from the Golden [illegible] ledge have been exhibited. The rock is of [illegible] different colors, and each color a distinct [illegible]. A kind of blueish rock that contains [illegible], and perhaps silver, seems to be the best, though all are good.

Owyhee correspondents say a party of miners have returned to that place from an expedition against the Indians, bringing in 20 [illegible] and some plunder. The miners there [illegible] well.

A man named Daniel Hopkins, while having charge of an insane person, named Wig[illegible], had his skull badly fractured by a blow from an axe in the hands of the insane man.

A man named Alvinus Swaine (Dr Swaine) [illegible] instantly killed himself in a saloon in Placerville on the 9th inst. He had been drinking hard for some days before.

[illegible] D. Cagwin, the auctioneer on Main st., while in the act of selling a pistol, on Sunday, was shot in the mouth by the accidental discharge of the weapon in the hands of another man. The ball, which was a very small one, entered the under part of the chin, and came out between the lip and lower teeth, doing no other damage than making a very sore place from the effects of the bullet wound, and powder that was blown into his face.

[illegible] to fourteen ox teams, direct from Salt Lake City, have arrived at Bannock. They were three weeks and two days on the road. They were loaded with flour, bacon, beans, potatoes, onions, beets, apples, sorghum, eggs, chickens, cheese, and almost every article in the grocery and provision line that is needed in the mines. They have brought down the price of flour to 24 cents; Oregon flour, however, is still bringing 27 cents.

The News has an account of a wedding at Placerville in which a former husband of the bride took part in the festivities.

Resolutions of the Oregon Annual Conference of the United Brethren in Christ, held at Pleasant Point, Marion Co, October [illegible], 1863.

Resolved, That we reiterate substantially the sentiments expressed at former sessions of this Conference declaring our unaltered and [illegible] attachment to our Government—in peace or war—prosperity or adversity—she has our sympathies, our prayers and our cordial support.

Resolved, That in President Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation we recognize an honest effort to strike at the root of our national ills, and with all our hearts we say let slavery perish and our nation live; let oppression and legalized injustice go down, we shed no tears over this monster evil.

Resolved, That we feel constrained to acknowledge that our very many sins, personal, social, political and national, justly incurred the divine displeasure and caused the supreme ruler to suffer at least this sore chastisement to come upon us, and we should feel called upon by the cries of fatherless children and the sighs of bereaved widows, by the groans of wounded and dying brothers and fathers, by desolated homes and distracted country, as well as by the word of God to bow down in deep humility before God and sincerely repent of these our many aggravated offenses.

Sing Sing Conservatism.—Immediately upon the election of the Honorable Fernando Wood to the Speakership of the House of Representatives, it is understood that the policy of the Sing Sing conservatives will be further illustrated by the appointment of Mr Isaiah Rynders as Chaplain of the House, of Mr McCunn as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, and of Mr An[illegible], now of Fort Lafayette, as Chief of the Metropolitan Police. When Mr Wood is elected Speaker, his "conservative" friend, Mr John B Lloyd will be called to the head of the United States Treasury in place of Mr Chase, Gen Meade will be superseded in Virginia by the "conservative" Gen Robert E. Lee, and Mr Vallandigham will be made Secretary of War. These will be but the first steps of the Sing Sing programme for the restoration of peace to the country, and of liberty, unity and perpetuity to the national Government.—Harper's Weekly.

The Contest in Missouri.—The Leavenworth (Kansas) Conservative says: Missouri is no longer afraid of rebels, or even of the [illegible], which, till now these ten months [illegible], was almost the fiercest thing known on that butternut soil. The contest is between immediate and gradual emancipation. "It's the fighting word over in Mizzou." The "immediate" boys are ahead. They al[illegible] are.

Losing a Lover

BY EMILY HUNTINGTON MILLER

"What on earth has become of Lucy Taylor's beau?" querried Aunt Dorcas Jones "I haven't seen him here in town since that picnic over to the Long Pond"

"Oh, that match is broken up long ago" said the Widow Perkins, who had just dropped in to tea

"Do tell!" exclaimed good Aunt Dorcas vigorously kneading her biscuits "Well it does beat all how very changeable the young folks are getting to be—the girls especially Now I thought he seemed to be a real likely young man indeed and Lucy Taylor is a right smart, pretty looking girl It seems a pity"

"Well, all I know about it" said the widow, "is that 'Squire Taylor's hired girl told my Jerusha Ann that she didn't believe they were rightly engaged but he'd been paying attention to Lucy while she was away at school and after she went home he came up to spend the vacation with Fred Taylor and see how the old folks would be suited While he was up there something or other must have happened, for the hired girl said she knew Lucy never got any letters from him and hadn't got his picture, because she'd searched everywhere for it May be he turned out to be a forger, or something dreadful, you can't calculate on young men now-a-days"

And the widow rocked herself complacently, as if it would have been rather a satisfaction to her to know that the young man in question was a scamp

"May be so," said Aunt Dorcas reflectively, "any way, it's a pity, it seemed such a nice match"

While the two old gossips are speculating dear reader, I'll tell you, confidentially, how it really happened that Lucy Taylor lost her lover.

Nobody ever said Lucy Taylor was a beauty, and only her partial friends thought her uncommonly pretty, but she had just such a sweet, gentle, loveable face as you may meet a dozen times a day upon the crowded street, and there was something so delightfully fresh and charming about her that she seemed to draw all hearts to her by some magic of her own. Without being remarkable for either beauty, wit or wisdom, she nevertheless reigned supreme in her own circle, and that circle was by no means small So when she left the quiet little village, and went away to the Seminary in the busy city of B——, she quietly won her way to a high place in the regard of both teachers and pupils Some of the teachers, it is true, wished at times Lucy was a little more prompt and thorough in her recitations, there were so many little golden grains dropped out and overlooked by her that, though she gathered up a tolerable sheaf from the harvest fields of knowledge, the careful, studious toilers found much that she lost

"Lucy isn't thorough enough but it seems to be her only fault and she may improve" This was the general testimony to her character.

Outside of the Seminary walls, Lucy found many admirers, and one of these—Henry Weston—was generally regarded in the light of Lucy's lover How Lucy herself looked upon him was not definitely known, but one thing was certain after making a diligent use of the few opportunities afforded by Seminary rules for social intercourse, the young man was most opportunely invited by Lucy's brother Fred, to come up to Ardley and help him spend his summer vacation agreeably Of course he accepted, for Fred Taylor was such a capital fellow, and it would be such a relief to get out of the city a few weeks Then—I am not sure that this reflection came last—Lucy would be at home and who has not felt the romance and witchery of country walks and rambles—moonlight—twilight—shade—sentiment and roses?

If Lucy was charming in the hot glare of city gas lights, what would she be in the pure untroubled atmosphere of home? Young Weston leaned back in the chair, with Fred's note between his fingers, and pictured that home to himself as a "broad, green, country place" and Lucy as the presiding divinity, shedding beauty, sweetness and odor through the whole It was very pleasant to think of, and, as he contemplated the vision, the minutes slipped so rapidly away, that he came within a second of being late at his place in the bank—a thing that had never happened before, in all his prompt, methodical business life Partly from nature, and partly from years of training in a business that required the utmost thoroughness and precision, Henry Weston's leading characteristic was a careful attention to the smallest details of whatever came under his hand to do His employer trusted him entirely, knowing that no item entrusted to his oversight would be neglected, or let slip for want of care or prompt attention It was a character worth possessing, and the sagacious ones were not far wrong when they prophesied that he would take a higher place in the bank before many years. Certainly, he was earning promotion.

Vacation days slipped around, and Mr Henry Weston made his arrival at Ardley, having been duly heralded a week before by the "hired girl," so that there were plenty of curious eyes regarding the great lumbering hack as it drew up in front of 'Squire Taylor's house There was the homestead, just as he had pictured it—large and breezy, with its graceful shadowing elms, there was 'Squire Taylor, dignified and portly, his delicate, lady like wife, who must have been once just what Lucy was now, there was Fred, with his rough, hearty greeting and timid, fluttering Lucy, looking fairer, fresher, more enchanting than ever, in her pretty home dress of delicate lawn

That very evening, as they all sat together in the queer old family sitting room, and Lucy sang, to a simple accompaniment, "The Ingle Side," and such old fashioned songs as pleased her father best young Weston gave himself up for lost, and decided that he really was in love Fred Taylor, with his hearty zest for hunting, fishing, rowing and all country pastimes, gave his friend little choice but to devote his days to vigorous tramps and rides through meadows and thicket in search of sport So it naturally happened that when night brought them home, they were ravenously hungry, and too tired to be either brilliant or sentimental, and thus the wooing went on slowly

One day, after a week had been wasted, as Weston mentally declared, a violent shower drove the young sportsmen home in the middle of the afternoon It was pleasant as they rushed into the yard drenched and muddy, to catch a glimpse of Lucy's face at the window, as she sat contentedly with her sewing and Weston blessed the thunder shower that had brought him the privilege of a quiet afternoon with her

They ascended by the back stairs to Fred's room, but, before they had half completed the process of donning fresh suits of clothing, and putting themselves in drawing room trim the sun burst forth again in all its glory To Fred's eye there was something aggravating in this—a sort of provoking "don't you wish you'd staid" expression, to the clear sunbeams, that seemed to have been gathering brightness all the time

"There," said he, regretfully, "we might just as well have staid, we were wet through anyhow, and I know I should have had that pickerel in half an hour longer We might go back now"—and he looked doubtfully at Weston

"Not I" was the emphatic answer "I shall stay where I am for the present Besides I have conscientious scruples about that pickerel I believe it is the very one you have come so near catching every vacation for two years and I am not going to see you murder him"

"Oh what sunshine" exclaimed Fred and running to [illegible] "there must be a rainbow somewhere"

And he leaned out of the window with boyish enthusiasm to look at it

"I can just see the end" said he bringing in his dripping head and crossing the hall into another room "Come over here Weston" he shouted in a moment after "there's a splendid view here from Lucy's room and it's just the most perfect arch that ever was"

Now Weston felt some delicate scruples about invading a lady's apartment, but then, Lucy's room! He had a vague desire to visit such an enchanted place and at all events how could he refuse Fred's repeated summons? So he crossed the hall, with his heart in a delightful tremor and entered the sacred precincts scarcely daring to cast a glance about him Oh, spirit of neatness! Oh goddess of order! Who shall describe the room where he found himself? The floor was unswept, the bed was unmade the washstand a miscellaneous collection of combs brushes soiled towels and soap suds Slippers dresses—every article of female apparel—were lying in confusion upon bed bureau and chairs while the curtain, half torn from its support trailed dismally on the floor Not that Weston saw all these items of discomfort; he only took in a general impression from one hasty survey as he strode desperately to the open window

"Isn't it glorious?" said Fred, "and only see how finely the village is lighted up against that background of black clouds Ardley is the prettiest village in all New England, I believe"

Ah, Fred! you little thought in what bewildered ears you were pouring your rhapsody

"I believe you have taken cold," he added, a moment after, as he noticed the expression of Weston's face, "let's go down to the fire—I forgot that you are not accustomed to duckings, as I am"

The thoughtless good natured fellow shut the window and followed Weston out of the room, kicking one of Lucy's dainty slippers aside, that prevented his closing the door It went spinning into the hall, and lay there, a silent witness of the invasion

Down in the sitting room was Lucy, as faultless as ever in all her appointments and Weston drew his hand across his eyes with a vague impression that he had been dreaming unpleasantly The hours of the afternoon and evening flew rapidly and pleasantly by with books and music and social chat and if visions of that untidy room ever thrust themselves upon Weston's mind, he put them resolutely away, and went heartily into the amusements of the hour Alone in his own room, he made a dozen plausible theories to account for the condition of things—perhaps it was not Lucy's room at all, Fred was such a blundering fellow, at all events he could not think of casting away his idol for one unlucky discovery so, with thoughts roaming in a beautiful future, Weston fell asleep

PROVIDENCE SCHOOL!
FOR YOUNG LADIES, CONDUCTED BY
The Sisters of Charity,
VANCOUVER W T

THIS INSTITUTION which was commenced in the year 1856 is delightfully situated at Vancouver on the north bank of the Columbia river The beauty of the surrounding scenery and the salubrity of the place can not be surpassed

The course of studies embraces the various branches of a solid and useful education and a particular attention is given to form the pupils to household duties and plain and fancy needle work

Parents may rest satisfied that every care will be paid to the comfort of the young ladies placed in this Institution whilst no pains will be spared to nourish in them those principles of virtue which alone can render education profitable

No undue influence will be exercised over the religious opinions of the pupils however, for the maintenance of good order all are required to conform to the external discipline of the house

Terms for Boarders:

Dryness of the Skin	Eruptions on the Face,
Pallid Countenance

These symptoms if allowed to go on which this medicine invariably removes soon follows

Impotency, Fatuity, Epileptic Fits,
IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE

Who can say that they are not frequently followed by those direful diseases?

"INSANITY AND CONSUMPTION,"

Many are aware of the cause of their suffering BUT NONE WILL CONFESS

THE RECORDS OF THE INSANE ASYLUMS,

And the melancholy deaths by Consumption bear ample witness to the truth of the assertion that

THE CONSTITUTION,
once affected by Organic Weakness
Requires the Aid of Medicine, to strengthen and invigorate the system which
HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does
A Trial will Convince the most Skeptical.

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL,
FOR THE RAPID CURE OF
Colds, Coughs, and Hoarseness.

BRIMFIELD MASS 20th Dec, 185[illegible]
DR. J C AYER I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Coughs [illegible] and the concomitant symptoms of a Cold is your CHERRY PECTORAL Its constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints. EBEN KNIGHT M.D.

A B MORTLEY, Esq of UTICA N Y writes your PECTORAL [illegible] I believe it the best medicine for its purpose ever put out [illegible] bottle than do without it [illegible]

Croup, Whooping Cough, [illegible]

BROTHER AYER I will cheerfully certify your Pectoral is the best remedy we possess for the cure of [illegible] and the chest diseases of children We of your fraternity in the South appreciate your skill and commend your medicine to our people. HIRAM [illegible]

AMOS LEE Esq MONTEREY, IA, writes [illegible] had a tedious Influenza, which confined me [illegible] took many medicines without relief finally by the advice of our clergyman [illegible] soreness in my throat and lungs [illegible] made me completely well Your medicines [illegible] well as the best we can buy and we [illegible] your remedies as the poor man's friend.

WEST MAN[illegible]
SIR Your CHERRY PECTORAL is [illegible] in this section It has [illegible] several [illegible] of consumption and is now curing a man [illegible] an affection of the lungs for the last forty [illegible]
HENRY L PARKS

A A RAMSEY M D ALBION, MONROE Co [illegible] Sept. 6 1855 During my practice of many [illegible] nothing equal to your CHERRY PECTORAL for giving [illegible] lief to consumptive patients or curing such [illegible]

We might add volumes of evidence, but the [illegible] proof of the virtues of this remedy is found in [illegible] trial

Consumption.

Probably no one remedy has ever been [illegible] many and such dangerous cases as this [illegible] can reach but even to those the CHERRY [illegible] lief and comfort

ASTOR HOUSE NEW YORK CITY [illegible]
DOCTOR AYER, LOWELL I feel it a duty [illegible] form you what your CHERRY PECTORAL has [illegible] She had been five months laboring under [illegible] toms of Consumption from which no aid [illegible] her much relief She was steadily failing [illegible] this city where we have come for advice [illegible] of your medicine We bless his [illegible] for she has recovered from that day She [illegible] she used to be but is free from her cough [illegible]
Yours, with gratitude and regard,
ORLANDO SHELBY, [illegible]

Consumptives do not despair till you [illegible] PECTORAL. It is made by one of the best [illegible] world and its cures around us bespeak the [illegible] virtues —Philadelphia Ledger

Ayer's Cathartic [illegible]

THE sciences of Chemistry and [illegible] their utmost to produce this best [illegible] which is known to man Innumerable [illegible] these Pills have virtues which surpass [illegible] ry medicines and that they win unprecedented [illegible] of all men They are safe and pleasant [illegible] cure Their penetrating properties stimulate [illegible] of the body remove the obstructions of its [illegible] blood and expel disease They purge out the [illegible] breed and grow distemper stimulate sluggish [illegible] gans into their natural action and impart [illegible] strength to the whole system Not only do they [illegible] day complaints of every body but also formidable [illegible] ous diseases that have baffled the best of [illegible] they produce powerful effects they are, at [illegible] minished doses the safest and best physic [illegible] for children Being sugar-coated, they are [illegible] and being purely vegetable are free from any [illegible] Cures have been made which surpass belief [illegible] stantiated by men of such exalted position [illegible] forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminent [illegible] physicians have lent their names to certify [illegible] liability of my remedies, while others have [illegible] ance of their conviction that my Pr[illegible] mensely to the relief of my afflicted, [illegible]
